Graduate Assistants may be used in a substitute manner only after the graduate student has successfully taught the course in question under the direct supervision of the faculty member. Direct supervision (the faculty member is present) is required for undergraduate student leadership.

2.03.02 Students

Regular attendance in scheduled class sessions is important to the learning process and especially crucial to the interactive nature of the courses within Townsend School of Music. Each professor will outline attendance policies for his or her classes in the course syllabi. For information about missing class for university sponsored activities (sports, music ensembles, university sponsored trips), consult the attendance section of the Mercer University Catalog.
2.04 Syllabus Policy

Faculty members within the Townsend School of Music will prepare syllabi for all of their courses each term. Course syllabi will be distributed to students at the first class meeting of each term, and copies of all course syllabi will be placed in the Dean’s office. Faculty members are encouraged to place syllabi on their web pages. There should not be any deviation from the class policies specified in the syllabus without negotiating or discussing changes with the entire class in writing. Although the specific arrangement of the content of syllabi may vary, all syllabi must contain the following essential elements:

If you are not registered with Disability Services, the instructor will refer you to the Student Support Services office for consultation regarding documentation of your disability and eligibility for accommodations under ADA/504. In order to receive accommodations, eligible students must provide the instructor with a Faculty Accommodation Form from Disability Services. Students must return the completed and signed form to the Disability Services office on the 3rd floor of the Connell Student Center. Students with a documented disability who do not wish to use accommodation are still strongly encouraged to register with Disability Services and complete a Faculty Accommodation Form each semester. For further information, please contact Disability Services at 301-2778 or visit the website at http://www.mercer.edu/stu_support/swd.htm.
2.05 Special Topics Enrollments

Special Topics in Music (MUS 480 and MUS 680) are courses designed to assist students in studying some significant topic in music that is not otherwise covered in Townsend School of Music course offerings. The class carries variable course credit (1 to 3 hours) dependent on the proposed course. Courses are created, approved and assigned course credit in the following manner:

The professor and student create a proposal for the special topics class using the Special Topics Form located in the music office. Note: The proposed class must be a topic not covered in the normal curriculum.

The completed form is submitted by the professor to the Director of Undergraduate Studies for MUS 480 and the Director of Graduate Studies for MUS 680 by September 15 (for the following Spring semester) or February 1 (for the following Fall semester).

The appropriate director will submit the proposal to the Dean for review. If approved, the appropriate director will assign the credit hours of the special topics course and submit the course to the Registrar.

The professor will be notified of the results of the review by October 15 (for the following spring semester) or March 1 (for the following fall semester).
2.06 Examinations and Grading

Examinations are administered at scheduled times at the end of the semester as prescribed by the Office of the Registrar. No examination will be held at any time other than that scheduled, except with the approval of the Dean of Townsend School of Music.

The grade of ABX denotes that the student was absent from the scheduled final examination because of sickness or another valid and compelling reason that is satisfactory to the professor. A special examination, to take the place of the one missed, must be taken no later than mid-term of the next semester, or the ABX grade will be changed to the grade of F.

The grade of IC (incomplete) means the student is passing the class but some relatively small part of the semester’s work remains incomplete because of illness or another valid and compelling reason that is satisfactory to the professor. All course work in a class must be completed no later than mid-term of the following semester, or the IC grade will be changed to a grade of F.

All ABX and IC grades must be replaced with traditional grades before degrees can be awarded.
2.07 Academic Grievance Procedure

Students have the right to bring grievances against a faculty member or an administrator concerning academic matters. Such matters may include, but are not limited to: failure to abide by requirements described in the course syllabus, arbitrary awarding of grades, or discrimination. The procedure for bringing a grievance is as follows:

- The student should meet with the faculty member to try to resolve the grievance.

- If the grievance is not resolved, the student should meet with the appropriate director. (Graduate students should meet with the Director of Graduate Studies / Undergraduate students should meet with the Director of Undergraduate Studies). In preparation for the meeting, the student and professor in question are required to submit a written summary of the grievance citing the reason(s) for lack of resolution.

- If the grievance is not resolved at the director’s level, the student should meet with the Dean. The director will submit the student and professor’s summary with a written statement outlining the grievance.

- If the grievance is not resolved at the Dean’s level, the student should meet with the Provost. Prior to the meeting, the provost will receive all written documentation plus a summary from the Dean.

- In all grievance procedures, the decision of the Provost is final.
Academic integrity at Townsend School of Music is maintained through the Honor System. The Honor System at Mercer imposes on each student the responsibility for his or her own honest behavior and requires each student to report any violations of the Honor Code about which he or she has information. An undergraduate student honor council administers the Honor System for undergraduates. The Honor System for graduate students is administered by an honor committee that is governed by policies established by the Graduate Council of Mercer University. Decisions and sanctions of the Honor Council and Honor Committee are binding, but may be appealed to the President of the University. By the act of entering Mercer University, each student consents to participate fully in the Mercer honor System. Furthermore, each student is personally responsible for knowing the rights and obligations set forth by the Honor System. A student is also expected to cooperate with all proceedings related to the Honor System. Students who refuse to accept the Honor System will be denied admission.
2.09 Teaching Load

The standard undergraduate teaching load for full-time Townsend School of Music faculty is twenty-one academic hours for the year. The standard teaching load for full-time music faculty teaching in the graduate area is eighteen academic hours for the year. Loads may be adjusted for administrative duties assumed by the Director of Undergraduate Studies or the Director of Graduate Studies. Adjunct faculty is compensated per contact hour. Summer teaching is compensated separately. Loads are allocated in the following manner:

- Academic course teaching load is allocated per contact hour (e.g. Musicianship is worth 1 academic hour credit but requires 2 contact hours per week; the load allocation is for 2 hours)

- Applied studio teaching hour is allocated 2/3 academic hour (NASM guideline)

- Large ensemble teaching load is allocated per contact hour

- Small ensemble teaching hour is allocated ½ academic hour credit

- Accompanying hour is allocated ½ academic hour credit
2.10 Class Rolls and Grade Reports

The faculty works in close association with the Office of the Registrar in the verification of class rolls. The accurate and timely validation of these rolls is a significant duty of the faculty and all adjunct instructors. In addition, the Registrar expects the cooperation of the faculty and adjunct instructors in prompt reporting of grades immediately following juries and final examinations held at the end of each semester.
2.11 Course Evaluations

All faculty members will conduct student evaluations in each of their courses and/or ensembles every semester using the evaluation forms adopted by the faculty. Faculty may supplement the form with additional questions. The results of student evaluations may be used by the Dean in annual assessments of faculty, and in tenure and promotion processes.
2.12 Academic Advising

The Director of Undergraduate Studies and the Director of Graduate Studies assign entering students to faculty members who serve as advisors. Faculty members keep an accurate file on each student and review at advisement time each semester. The updated check sheet for each student and academic counseling report provided are the essential components of this file. Each semester at advisement with the student, the advisor needs to update this check sheet and provide a copy for the student’s file. Faculty advisors are responsible for ensuring that the student registers for courses that are appropriate to their degree major and their stage in the program. The faculty advisor also serves as a faculty mentor, guiding the student’s personal and professional development.
2.13 Academic Freedom

The Mercer University Faculty Handbook section on academic freedom entitled “Academic Freedom and Tenure” declares that Mercer University assures all faculty members, whether tenured or untenured, of full protection of academic freedom. The University’s understanding of academic freedom is consistent with the definition contained in the “Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure” formulated in 1940 by the Association of American Colleges and the American Association of University Professors. The relevant sections of the “Statement” state:

- “Institutions of higher education are conducted for the common good and not to further the interest of either the individual teacher or the institution as a whole. The common good depends upon the free search for truth and its free exposition.”

- “Academic freedom is essential to these purposes and applies to both teaching and research. Freedom in research is fundamental to the advancement of truth. Academic freedom in its teaching aspect is fundamental for the protection of the rights of the teacher in teaching and of the student to freedom in learning. It carries with it duties correlative with rights.”

- “Teachers are entitled to full freedom in research and the publication of the results, subject to the adequate performance of their other academic duties; but research for pecuniary return should be based upon an understanding with the authorities of the institution.”

- Teachers are entitled to freedom in the classroom in discussing their subject, but they should be careful not to introduce into their teaching controversial matter that has no relation to their subject. Limitations of academic freedom because of religious or other aims of the institution should be clearly stated in writing at the time of the appointment.”

- “College and university teachers are citizens, members of a learned profession, and officers of an educational institution. When they speak or write as citizens, they should be free from institutional censorship or discipline, but their special position in the community imposes special obligations. As scholars and educational officers, they should remember that the public may judge their profession and their institution by their utterances. Hence, they should at all times be accurate, should exercise appropriate restraint, should show respect for the opinions of others, and should make every effort to indicate that they are not speaking for the institution.”
III. Policies Related to Faculty Recruitment, Development, Conflict of Interest, Rank, Tenure, and Promotion

3.01 Appointment of Faculty

- The Dean will announce faculty vacancies whenever there is a need to create a new position or fill a vacancy in a current position. The Dean will appoint a search committee of three to five faculty members from the School. The committee will be comprised of a majority of faculty members from the department needing the faculty position. At least one member of the search committee will be a member of the music faculty from another department in the School. Students will be invited to meet the candidates for the new faculty position and to offer their evaluations of the candidates.

- The Dean may appoint a person to the faculty for a non-tenured, contract, or visiting professor position when circumstances warrant such an appointment. All other full-time faculty appointments require the participation and support of the faculty.

- When a vacancy is declared, it will be advertised through appropriate channels. Applications, resumes, and recordings will be solicited and collected from interested applicants regardless of race, gender, or ethnic background.

- Candidates for a music faculty appointment are evaluated on the basis of:
  - academic credentials
  - teaching experience and ability
  - artistic activities
  - scholarly activities
  - collegiality

- The normal procedure is for the faculty to review the applications and invite three candidates to the campus for an interview. When the faculty reaches agreement on the best candidate for the position, the Dean will extend an invitation for the candidate to accept the position, negotiate matters of rank and salary, and write a contractual letter on behalf of the President of the University.

- Faculty rank and salary for new appointments will normally be determined on the basis of:
  - the candidate’s rank at their institution prior to appointment to the Mercer faculty
  - years of teaching experience
  - professional scholarship or artistic activities
3.01.01 Adjunct Faculty

The Dean appoints adjunct faculty, taking into consideration the need for additional instruction in the coming semester, faculty sabbaticals, and the need to offer courses not being taught by the full-time faculty. As a rule, adjunct faculty is expected to hold a graduate or terminal degree, but experience, expertise, and reputation are also considered. Adjunct teachers are normally contracted on a semester basis.

3.01.02 Tenure-Track Faculty

Tenure-track faculty members are reviewed for during the first, second, fourth, and sixth year of full-time faculty service. The tenure-track faculty member is eligible to apply for tenure during the sixth year of full-time service. At the time of a professor’s initial appointment, credit toward tenure may be given for teaching at another institution, and a shorter probationary period may be specified. Where the candidate’s experience and distinction warrant it, the President may make the appointment with tenure.
3.02 Faculty Development

The faculty may expect support from the University for their professional development. In return, the University may expect enhanced commitment to the University in musical performance, scholarship, teaching, and service.

3.02.01 Scholarly and Artistic Activities

Faculty members are expected to remain active as professional musicians. Scholarly and artistic activities that are not externally funded will be supported within the budgetary limits of the given year. The School encourages such professional activities as performance, composition, and research.

3.02.02 Participation at Professional Meetings

Faculty members are expected to attend and become active participants in the regional, national, and international professional meetings of their disciplines. Faculty members pay their own dues for membership in professional organizations. The School will pay for travel and registration at the annual meetings to the limits set by the Dean in view of budgetary constraints.

3.02.03 Sabbatical Leave

The purpose of the program of sabbatical leaves is to provide opportunity for continued professional growth and intellectual development through new performance, study, or research. Normally travel away from the campus is involved.

- Eligibility - A professor is eligible for a sabbatical leave after six years of full-time service as a faculty member in the University. Any previous time spent on leave is not considered in determining years of service toward sabbatical eligibility. A faculty member within two years of retirement is not eligible. A sabbatical leave is not considered a form of deferred compensation, a faculty right, or an automatic benefit. A faculty member may apply for a one-semester sabbatical leave with full pay or a full year sabbatical leave with half pay. After a sabbatical leave, a professor is expected to return to active teaching duties at the University. Following six more years of service, a professor may apply for another sabbatical leave.

- Application Procedure - No later than September 15 in the year prior to the expected leave, the faculty member must submit to the Dean a letter of application and a proposal that states the purpose and plan for the period of the leave. Notification of those selected for sabbatical leaves will be made by February 1.

- Evaluation - Within three months of returning from a sabbatical leave, a faculty member will submit to the Dean a written account of the work accomplished during the leave and an evaluation of the extent to which the objectives of the leave have been accomplished.
3.03 Conflict of Interest

The faculty of the School of Music strive to maintain and exemplify the highest standards of integrity in every aspect of their professional activities. For that reason the following guidelines have been adopted by the faculty to ensure that there shall be no misunderstanding in areas of potential conflict of interest, specifically in questions of work for outside sources, honoraria, and reimbursements.

3.03.01 Work for Outside Sources

As a basic principle it is expected that no employee of the School of Music shall take another job that takes up time that he or she is expected to give to Mercer University. Members of the faculty and staff of the School of Music regularly have opportunities to engage in a variety of activities that both remunerate them personally and contribute to the work of the School of Music. When that is the case particular care must be taken that their position with the School of Music is neither exploited for personal gain nor neglected in the pursuit of such activities. Specifically, members of the faculty may respond to invitations to perform, teach, or serve as music ministers. They may appropriately engage in composing, adjudicating, editing, or writing for which they receive income in stipends or royalties. Such activities contribute to the reputation and stature of the School of Music. Nevertheless, the following guidelines should be observed:

- Time spent in outside professional activities should not interfere with the faculty member’s teaching responsibilities to the School. Teaching for other schools or universities must be negotiated with the Dean.
- A faculty member may miss a maximum of one week of classes per semester for his or her own professional activities and a maximum of one week per semester for School or University related activities.
- All professional and University related activities should be listed in the faculty member’s annual report. Any extended or continuing obligations or contractual relationships should receive prior approval of the Dean.
- Whenever the Dean or the individual faculty member is concerned that such activities are excessive, they should be discussed with and approved by the Dean.
- Faculty members may not make use of the University’s name or resources (including space, facilities, equipment, and support staff) in connection with outside activities other than the routine activities that are connected with their role as a faculty member.

3.03.02 Honoraria and Reimbursements

Honoraria and stipends for professional activities rightfully belong to the individual faculty member. There may be occasions, however, for which faculty members donate their time representing the School, and such activities may occasionally recruit or raise money for the school. In such instances, travel expenses will be reimbursed by the School. Employees will not be reimbursed for travel expenses for activities for which they receive an honorarium or other reimbursement.

3.03.03 Accountability

- No faculty person should determine his or her own compensation for University related activities.

- All university related music programs employing faculty members should submit an annual program report to the Dean by May 15 of the academic year.
3.04 Faculty Rank

3.04.01 Lecturer

A Lecturer is an adjunct teacher who is normally appointed for a semester to meet specific instructional needs in the School. Lecturers are part-time, teaching less than a full-time load in a given semester.

3.04.02 Senior Lecturer

A Senior Lecturer is an adjunct teacher who has committed a period of years (not less than six years) of faithful part-time teaching service to the School. Senior Lecturers normally possess terminal professional degrees. They are promoted for their years of productive teaching and commitment to the institution.

3.04.03 Assistant Professor

An assistant professor is normally a tenure-track appointment. The assistant professor is assessed by the Tenure, Promotions, and Peer Review committee during the first, second, fourth, and sixth year of teaching service to the School. The non-tenured period of service allows the Dean and the faculty to assess the assistant professor’s abilities and fit with the needs of the School. Successful performance in teaching and course development is a prime consideration, as are the assistant professor’s professional scholarship and artistic activities. As well, the Dean and faculty evaluate the assistant professor’s commitment to faculty service responsibilities and collegiality. In the fourth year, a decision will be made about renewing the assistant professor’s contract into the future. In the assistant professor’s sixth year of teaching, the Tenure, Promotions, and Peer Review committee will review the professor’s professional work and make a recommendation to the Dean concerning tenure.

3.04.04 Associate Professor

An associate professor should have demonstrated ability in teaching and course development and established acceptance and collegiality with his or her faculty colleagues. In addition, an associate professor should be building a reputation as a music teacher and as a professional musician. Measurable success should be apparent in the areas of music scholarship, music performance, and other artistic activities.
3.04.05 Professor

A full professor should have attained recognition and distinction in his or her area of specialization comparable with that of music professors at other major schools of music, conservatories, and university music departments.

3.04.06 Professor Emeritus

The status of professor emeritus is awarded to professors and associate professor emeritus to associate professors who have served the equivalent of ten years of exceptional service to Mercer University. The benefits awarded to the designated professor emeritus or associated professor emeritus are delineated in the Mercer University Faculty Handbook.
3.05 Tenure, Promotion, Peer Review, and Dean Review

3.05.01 Annual Review

Every year each faculty member completes an Annual Faculty Report, recording his or her activities for the past calendar year in each of the following five areas. Annual Faculty Reports (except second year and sixth year faculty being reviewed) are due on January 14. Before the end of the spring semester and the mailing of salary letters for the coming year, the Dean reviews the faculty member’s Annual Report, course evaluations, and achievement of goals set the previous year. The Dean then has a performance evaluation conference with each faculty member and communicates the evaluation to the faculty member in writing.

3.06 Termination or Resignation of a Faculty Member

See the University Faculty Handbook, “Termination of Appointments by the University,” “Termination of Appointment by the Faculty Member,” and “Dismissal Procedures.” The section on “Termination of Appointment by the Faculty Member” reads: A faculty member may terminate his or her appointment effective at the end of an academic year, provided that he or she gives notice in writing at the earliest possible opportunity, but not later than 30 days after receiving notification of the terms of his or her reappointment for the coming year. The faculty member may properly request a waiver of this requirement of notice in case of hardship or in a situation where he or she would otherwise be denied substantial professional advancement or other opportunity. Faculty members are expected to give due notice of their intentions not to accept reappointment so as to assist
IV. Guidelines for Faculty/Student Travel on School of Music-Sponsored Events

4.01 Faculty/Student Travel

A music faculty member must accompany any School of Music authorized event involving students and travel.

It is imperative that proper funding for the event be procured before the date of departure. Budget planning should include expenses for travel, board, room, and all necessary dues/convention fees, etc.

Safe and sufficient travel arrangements must be secured before departure. Proper and adequate housing arrangements must be arranged in advance. Rooms booked should not be overcrowded and gender separation is required.

Planning for sufficient meals and a comfortable timetable should be organized ahead of time.

The use of university vehicles or commercial vehicles for travel is encouraged. If personal vehicles are used, it is recommended that university employees assume the driving responsibilities.
